FOREWORD

Sleepy smiles and thin sunlight
mud-spattered yellow and exhaust
the grinding of gears
a jolting stop . . .
And a new school day

Blur of smiling faces rushed in jammed corridors
clanging locker doors and jumbled hi's
"and this concludes the morning announcements"

Sprawling white algebraic symbols on Black
Deep Concentration and The Big Picture.

Fleeting moments in cafeteria lunch line
veal cutlets and waxed beans
Freshly Sponged white table tops
"Only Four to a table"

Test tubes and "colored chemicals"
penetrating odors from effervescing fumes
The Hydrogen Atom
two Styrofoam balls
glued with Elmer's

Scratched—red letters on baby blue exam notebooks
Innocent white envelopes
from Data Processing
"Well, anyway, they're over" . . .
RELIEF

Screams on a crisp fall Saturday
Colors blurring in Motion
"Lean to the left, lean to the right"
VICTORY

"Baby, baby—Baby, don't leave me"
Contorted figures and vivid movements
The Monkey
Laughter to a Beat
in the darkened cafeteria

White dresses and red carnations
in Procession on Green
Tears mingled with Smiles
A white Scroll and gold tassel

These are The Memories
Now PAST . . .
yet PRESENT . . .
for they live within us
still FUTURE . . .

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. HARRIETT NELSON

During her years at Weston High School, Mrs. Nelson shared with others her love for the French people and for their great traditions of culture and learning. She provided variety in her classes by encouraging the study of French culture as well as French language. Mrs. Nelson and her quiet, organized teaching will be missed by Weston students.

DEDICATION

Sound thinking and good judgement are vital ingredients to a successful organization. This is why the class of 1965 has been so fortunate to have you as its class advisor during our most important years in high school. You have always been anxious to help us and your steady influence has enabled the class to deal effectively with many tight situations. We'll never forget the confidence you gave us before the Variety Show, the enthusiasm which sparked our class outings, and the encouragement before the Prom. Many were the times the boys were advised, "You better get on the stick and ask her before someone else does!" You will be an important part of our high school memories. For all you have done for us, we dedicate this yearbook to you, Donald Gearan.

INSTRUCTIONS

FOREIGN STUDENTS: S. Zachos, Y. Matsuyama, C. Henrion, A. Sanvicente.

THE FOREIGN EXCHANGE students this year have provided Weston with the key to a new scope of interest and understanding of other countries. Not only have we continued student exchange relations with Rombas, France and PortoAllegre, Brazil, but we also have with us this year students from Japan, Argentina, and Greece. We hope that this type of program will continue to expand.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY: Row 1: K. VanNostrand, S. Revotskie, Mrs. Zamprogno, A. Harrison, H. Wallace. Row 2: B. Everett, D. Downing, W. Phillips, R. Schuerhoff, R. French.

STUDENT COUNCIL: Row 1: R. Kiely, Treasurer; J. Rizzo, President; J. Covington, Vice-President; A. Stone, Secretary; B. Phillips. Row 2: C. Czarnowski, W. Elinoff, A. Orth, R. Teittinen, K. Helgeson, A. Miller, W. Leisman, P. Zackrison. Row 3: J. Lepine, B. Bartels, M. Monahon, R. Jones.

FOLIO: Row 1: L. Gangi, Mrs. Conant, B. Everett, L. Slater. Row 2: C. Johnson, K. Donaldson, J. Shotwell, K. Stritter, J. Howard.

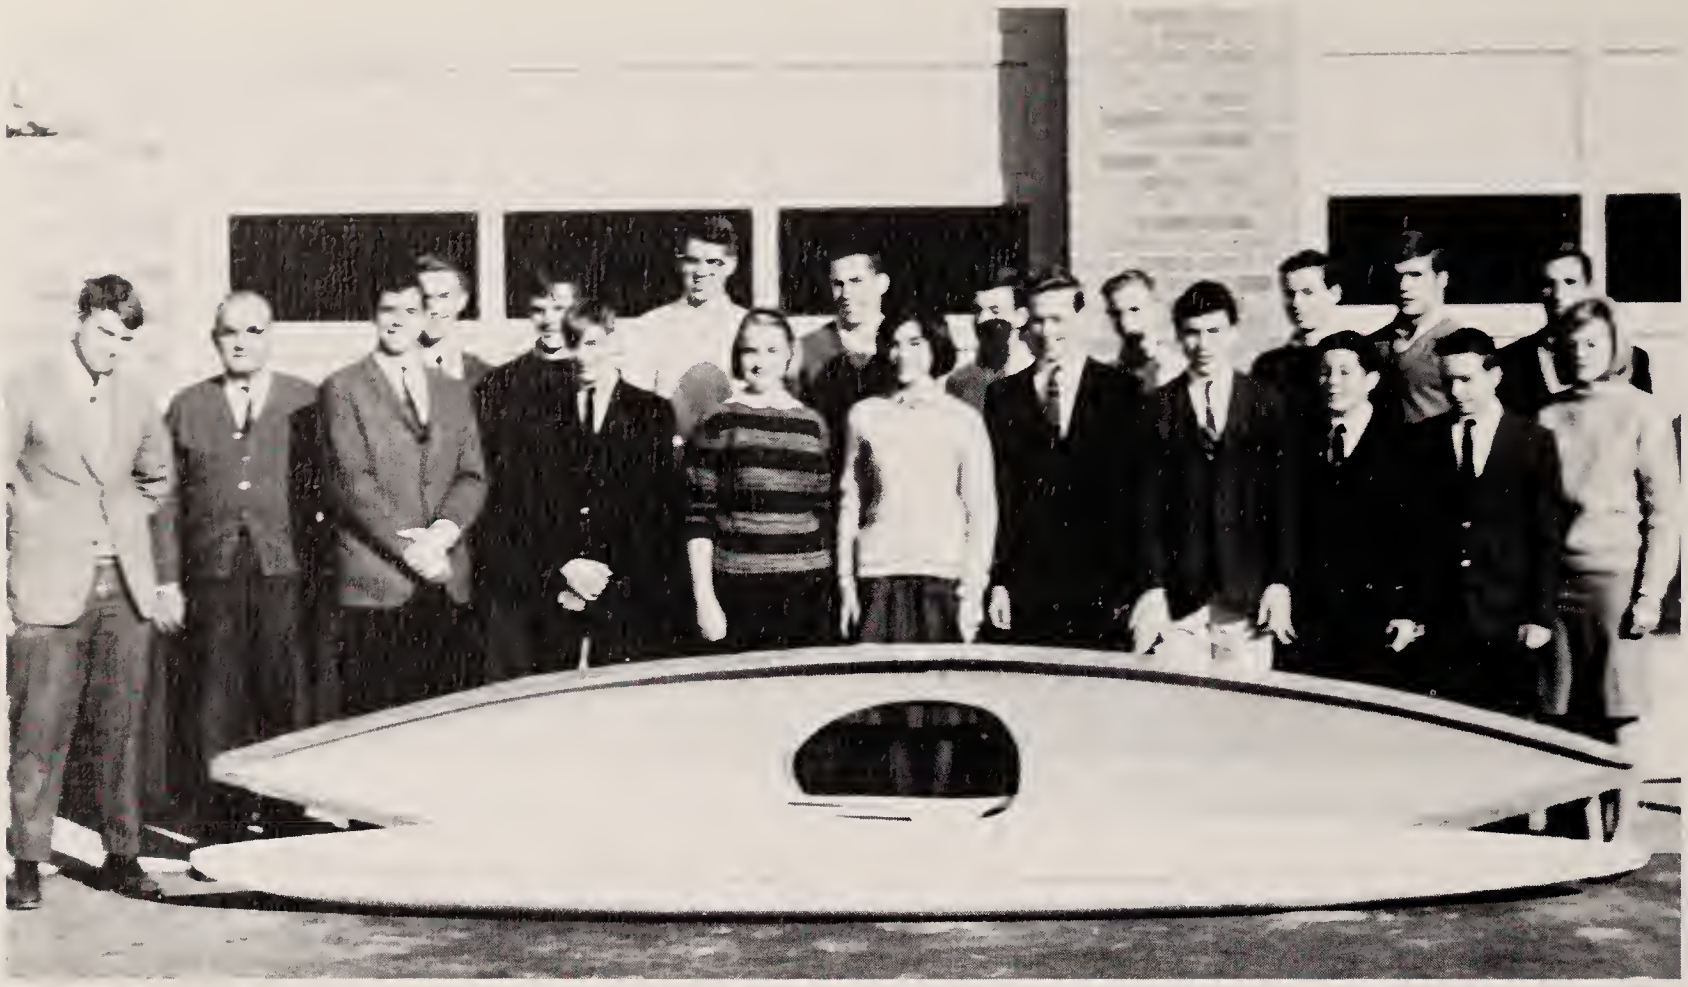
THE DRAMA CLUB began the year with a new director and many enthusiastic underclassmen along with several "veterans." Mr. Edwin C. Shade of the New England Conservatory succeeded in quickly organizing the year's activity.

The Club's first performance included two pantomines by Samuel Beckett and Eugene Ionesco's The Bald Soprano. These examples of the Theater of the Absurd provided amusing yet thought-provoking glimpses into modern philosophy. An Italian Straw Hat, a farcical drama, was the second club endeavor.

Several new members were initiated into Weston's troupe of the National Thespian Society. All members of the club, whether acting, working on props, or merely helping out backstage, gained experience and found enjoyment during the year.



KAYAK CLUB: Mr. Reed, Jack, G. Hubbard, J. Ayers, W. Arnold, W. Tucker, R. Crowley, A. Abbot, E. Recka, P. Perkins, R. Abate, W. Phillips, R. Richardson, A. Stutz, K. Collins, S. Yetter, A. Stone, C. Phillips, J. Covington, A. Gelinas.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Fall '64 . . . a new school year begins . . . with it a set of shy but eager faces appear for the first time in the halls of Weston High School.

The FRESHMEN, enthusiastic and full of energy, readily add a new dimension to school life. Staggering under stacks of newly-acquired Physical Science books, Algebra 1 texts, English I Literature, and World History I reviews, each Freshman, makes his way through crowded corridors. Many forlorn Freshmen, becoming completely lost in the maze of upperclassmen, anxiously ask, "Which way to the Guidance Office?"

Excitement characterizes the Freshman class. To them, high school life is new and dazzling. They find Mrs. Ellsworth's aboriginal plants definitely "UNUSUAL," and Mr. Hale's omnipresence beyond comprehension. But it is Mr. Bishop's bright orchid sweatsuit that never ceases to amaze the Freshmen. And what Freshman girl does not feel her heart skip as she passes one of those idolized senior boys in the halls?

The Freshmen's enthusiasm is lacking neither at canteens, where they dart among happy chicken-scratchers (or are they monkeys? . . . fish?), nor at football games, where hoarse Freshman voices rise to new highs. Freshman enthusiasm also extends to clubs and activities. The class boasts many physical scientists, an abundance of athletes, and an overflow of potential actors and actresses.

Certainly the Freshman class has GREAT EXPECTATIONS as their first year progresses; certainly they will combine their keen enthusiasm with the prestige of being upperclassmen.

"Hurrah!" shout the relieved Sophomores, "Freshman year is over." Sophomores appreciate this new year of enviable leisure, especially since they have finally achieved "upperclassmanship." Sophomores smile sedately at their distraught elders, who, armed with college handbooks, dash madly about, searching for that perfect college. At the same time, they arrogantly avoid the freshmen.

While enjoying their ease, the Sophomores dive enthusiastically into classes. The daily appearance of peanut-butter jars containing floating arthropoda on window ledges and cafeteria tables testify to the Sophomores' Keene interest in Biology. Perhaps the Sophomores' sole grievance is the formaldehyde which curses their hands, making lunches less appetizing, and establishes in them an even greater sympathy for Lady Macbeth than the English department ever could have achieved. Huck Finn's presence is less obvious, but his effect on the Sophomore class is phenomenal. Slowly chawing wads of illegal gum, eyes distant and dreamy, Sophomores lounge in cafeteria study halls, longing to drift down-river with Huck. No such luck.

There is no time for daydreams, for the Sophomore is confronted with the Russian alphabet, which is completely Greek to him. Yet the trials and tribulations of the Russian alphabet can not surpass the anxieties of Speech class where Sophomores meet two times a week to "proceed with the proceedings." What Sophomore will ever forget that sinking, clammy feeling as he hears: "And the next speaker will be . . ."

Other Sophomores, immersed in a realm of one-sided polygons, and inscibed circles, contemplate dilemmas, such as "Triangle ABC congruent to triangle XYZ by S.A.S. (or was it A.S.A.? . . . A.A.A.?)." However, the Sophomore boys, in particular, seem to enjoy contemplating shapes.

Still, washing their hands of formaldehyde and giving up congruent triangles for algebra formulas, the Sophomores must give up their ease for the frustrations of the coming Junior year.

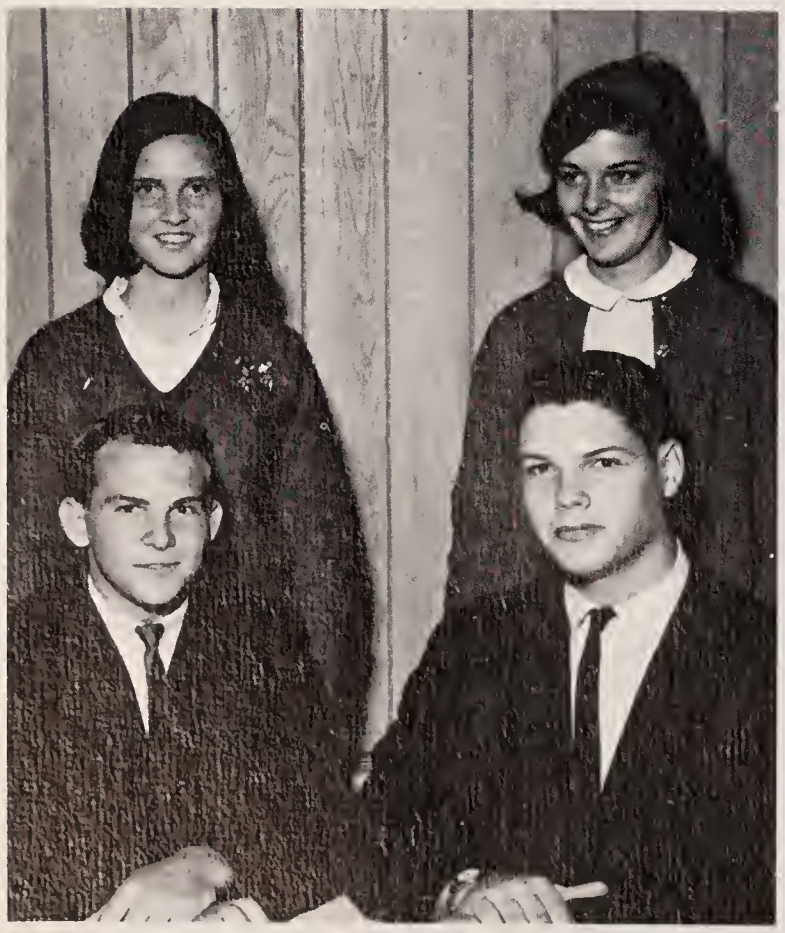
The Juniors, a diversity of faces hurrying in tiled corridors from class to class . . . faces smiling, faces laughing, faces worrying about unwritten English compositions. But the Junior class is more than just a diversity of individual faces. We know them as one face, a class unified with enthusiasm and spirit.

Together the members of the Junior class meet new anxieties in their Junior year. Confronted with PSATs and SATs, the Juniors find college an impending reality. Grades suddenly take on a new importance and the ominous "College of Your Choice" haunts the Juniors' very existence. Pushed on by grim admonitions from teachers and guidance counselors, the Juniors work diligently to achieve the necessary college standards. Anxious to perfect that difficult assignment in Chemistry lab, Juniors always end up with broken test-tubes or enigmatic data. Nothing could be worse than the sulfur aroma which emerges from the chem lab. and joins forces with odors from the biology room to permeate the entire school. The Juniors' diligence is also present in English class where he contemplates "words of wisdom" from Henry David Thoreau, the sage of Concord. What Junior isn't inspired to travel to that historic site at Walden? But the Juniors' most challenging problem is to do his Algebra in "clean form."

Yes, the Junior year is a difficult one, but the year also brings pleasure to the Juniors. Those hectic but enjoyable weeks dedicated to prom decorating shall never be forgotten; nor will the Juniors be able to forget two field day victories or the pride they feel at being the class always able to scream the loudest at pep rallies.

But whether they meet "agony or ecstacy" in their Junior year, the class remains one; working together and laughing together.



Class Officers: Arthur Miller, President; Garen Bresnick, Vice-President; Pamela Howe, Secretary; Shelly Dunn, Treasurer.

WONDERLAND BY NIGHT

"Wonderland by Night," given by the Class of 1965, was fashioned after the fantasy fairy tale "Alice-In-Wonderland." Walt Disney's illustrated version of the story became the class Bible by spring of the junior year. The class, exhausted but enjoying itself, would work on decorations, and then leave for field day practice by truckloads wearing the class uniform: a paint-spattered shirt, white levis and sneakers.

Time passed quickly: only one more weekend left to work on decorations, only one more night to work on decorations, then suddenly Saturday evening May 23. Couples arrived to walk through the rabbit's hole onto a checkerboard platform into Wonderland. The decorations, planned by the co-chairmen Barbara Phillips and Peter Heidt, included flower gardens, a keyhole mural, the scene of the cards painting the roses red, and the throne. The long-anticipated evening reached a climax with the crowning of Queen Marcia Griffin and her court. The class will long remember working together and creating a fairy tale.

Prom Court: Roberta MacPhee, Susan Revotskie, Christina Shepardson, Kristina VanNostrand, Marcia Griffin, Susan Waters, Madolyn Rizzo, Thalia Pananides, Patricia Hanson.

THE CANTEENS this year opened a new variety of entertainment. Sponsored by the P.T.A. and under the leadership of Ronnie Powers and his wife Darleen, the canteens have attracted big turnouts and more money. The success of the canteen committee has given students a chance to enjoy more bands and better entertainment. Perhaps the year's highlight was the Levi Canteen, when the floor was covered with kids doing the monkey and the frug in their colorful and casual attire. The specialties of the evening were the return of Weston High School graduate Bob Desimone and his instrumental group and the challenge to a drum battle.

OUR FOOTBALL TEAM lacked one of the really important keys to success this year, namely a healthy ball club. Despite the plague of injuries they had many outstanding moments which made the games exciting to watch. Co-captain Richie Higgin's break-away runs brought the first victory over Algonquin. Jim Meimaris, became Weston's strongest steam roller-style runner. Against Christopher Columbus High School Weston had a field day as their passing and running attack rendered Christopher Columbus helpless. North Reading was crippled in a downpour of rain as Mac Harrison made two long runs which totaled 130 yards. Hoping to retain their silver bowl, finish on the winning side of the ledger, and once again topple Wayland in the Thanksgiving Day classic, Weston entered the game with a secret offense. Higgins had recovered and outran the Wayland defense. Although the Wildcats scored a greater number of touchdowns, the game was lost due to penalties.

Though complaining that they were losing "half" their team to the Varsity, the Junior Varsity football team played a successful season with a record of 5-1-1. The team's strength was perhaps best exhibited against the Lynnfield team, when Weston came out the victors by a score of 8-6. The team, since the majority of its players are sophomores and juniors, will provide depth for the Varsity team next year.

The MAJORETTES provided a bright, new change of pace in entertainment at our football games this year. The group, in brand new kilts and vests, led the band down the field in a manner that sparked enthusiasm in the crowd. Although at times fingers became numb with cold, the spirit for their school and team remained active as they continued to whirl batons in the air. The successful season was rewarded by third prize in the Walpole Majorettes Competition. With only one veteran from last year in the group, they certainly are to be commended for their performance.

The adjectives spirited and enthusiastic also fit the CHEERLEADERS. An intrinsic part of the football and basketball seasons, the girls led the spectators in cheering our teams in victory and reassuring them in defeat. With their new maroon bench warmers they fought the cold, and in red raincoats and bare feet added the unusual to rainy football games.

Both the majorettes and the cheerleaders are to be recognized for their long hours of practice and faithfulness to the Weston High School teams.

THE WESTON CROSS-COUNTRY team was undefeated and untied this season, extending its overall winning streak to thirty-three consecutive meets in the past three years. The Harriers worked hard for this record, running from one to six miles every afternoon and on weekends. Every day the team would open up with some calesthenics which were known to be harder than those done by the football team, and then they would either run endlessly around the track or take a "short jaunt" over the 2.6 mile course. Under the expert guidance of Mr. Duncan, this continual masochism molded a team which had a tremendous desire and willingness to work. Captain Lev Flint won every meet this year; his personal winning streak has now been unbroken for twenty-four consecutive meets. Seniors Dick Rowe and Dave Bolton, Junior Woody Hoblitzell, Sophomore Greg Pink, and Freshman Andy Nazar, all key factors in the team's depth, give promise of a continuing winning streak next season.

FIELD HOCKEY this year was characterized by fair weather, lively practices, and victorious games. Every afternoon without fail one could hear the familiar cries of "Keep your stick down!" and "Move your feet!". However, mingled with these cliches of the field hockey field could be heard phrases almost as unexpected as the good weather. Shouts of "Pass the football!" and "Watch out for the cross country runners!" were not infrequent. But somewhere in the midst of the chaos, the field hockey team found the formula for success. The Junior Varsity, under the direction of Miss Cosgrove, was undefeated and the Varsity, coached by Miss Butera, was undefeated and untied.

Although the Varsity won most of its games by a comfortable margin, the team gave final proof of its tremendous spirit and determination when it met an undefeated and equally determined Wellesley team. After a scoreless first half, followed by a rather lengthy pep talk, Martie Wypler scored Weston's only goal in the final second of play. She then found herself smothered by estatic teammates.

The Junior Varsity, led by high scorers Jane Herrick and Sue Ford and backed up by the fine defensive playing of Co-captains Shelley Dunn and Liz Aker, capped its undefeated season by having only three goals scored against it all year.

The season finished with a victory over Wayland and an ear-splitting bus ride home. Having been sternly forbidden to throw the coaches in the showers, yet not wanting to leave without showing its appreciation, the team obliged Miss Butera and Miss Cosgrove by giving them a powder bath instead.

WILDCAT BASKETBALL was not superior this year, but it was at least consistent. The team was not without talent — it just didn't put its talent together all in one game. Since Weston was not on a winning streak, few fans found the games interesting. Mac Harrison and Dick Crowley were the most consistent players for the team. Al Stone, the other returning letterman, supplied the muscle and Andy Karas added height to Weston's defense. Bill Baine, Ken Helgeson, and Chip Miller should compose the brunt of Weston's attack next year — hopefully with more success.

The Junior Varsity had a substantially more creditable record than the Varsity team. Coach Czarnowski employed a type of a platooning system which provided quick and fresh changes in their game. Art Miller and Dick Greenwood along with sophomores Bob Bielaski, Alan Lazzari and Bob Teittinen had outstanding seasons and should be valuable players next year on the Varsity.

A ship-shape team was the aim of the twelve freshman boys who played basketball four days a week at the Brook School. On occasion the frosh and Coach Walker would match tactics with the junior varsity, giving the team an opportunity to hold scrimmage in the high school gymnasium. The boys won four out of seven games played in their league; they upheld Weston's honor by winning a second game with Wayland after losing the first by thirty points. Team members Ned Healey and Chuck Averill were high scorers. This last and most successful game of the season was topped off by twelve freshman being treated to twelve sundaes.

WRESTLING

This year for the first time Weston High had a Wrestling Team which competed against other schools. Although there was pre-season talk about two points for an arm and three points for a leg, not very many people in the high school really knew much about wrestling. Still, boys of all sizes and shapes came down to the Brook School to learn something about the sport and in the end learned quite a bit. From Coach Harris they learned new wrestling holds and new exercises. From their fellows they learned about bloody noses and wrenched limbs, and in time some of them learned to avoid the Brook School each afternoon. Rivers, Newton, and Needham willingly demonstrated additional new holds, and the team learned even more. Although Weston's record against these schools was not glorious, it was not bad for a school which had just started wrestling, and with the knowledge gained through this year's season, the team looks forward to greater things next year.

INDOOR TRACK TEAM: Row 1; Mr. Duncan, W. Toppan, Co-Captain; D. Bolton, Co-captain; G. Pink, L. Flint, P. Campelia. Row 2; R. Lane, C. Shaw, D. Asaff, S. Wilkes, G. Marcoux, W. Hoblitzell, C. Orth, W. Ackles. Row 3; F. Page, R. Covington, B. Ogilvie, S. McGillivray, P. Zackrison.

INDOOR TRACK

CO-CAPTAINS: Greg Pink and David Bolton.

Weston was initiated into the Colonial Indoor Track League this winter and enjoyed a fairly successful season.

Since Weston does not have facilities for an indoor track, a good deal of practice was done in the driveway of the school. Only when the weather went below freezing did the team resort to the math and history wings, and the hall out side the gymnasium for calesthenics. Students staying after school might hear and see the pounding and puffing indoor track team stream down the halls. Then Mr. Duncan's voice called out, "Okay boys, one more sprint and hit the showers."

Although the team was handicapped by injury and inexperience, the boys enjoyed their season and offered a strong challenge to their competitors.

HOCKEY TEAM: Row 1; R. Rowe, W. Osmond, D. Downes, Co-captain; N. Seiler, Co-captain; T. Downes, D. Aqiilino. Row 2; Mr. McKeenan, G. Stubbs, J. Backstrom, R. Rowe, E. Powers, R. Jenkins, R. Ferrelli, P. Ronty, S. Leach, C. LaTucky.

THE HOCKEY TEAM has now completed its third year as an organized sport. The team is still growing and gaining experience. Although its record does not present a picture of a successful season, the team's power and potential was illustrated by its 4-0 victory over Westwood, knocking Westwood out of second place in the league. Tom Downes and Wayne Osmond were the point getters in this game, Downes with three goals and Osmond with one. Also the game was a shutout for goalie Danny Aquilino. With several of the players returning, the team looks forward to a good season next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL: Row 1; M. Wypler, N. Purdy, L. Townsend, Co-Captain; H. Macintosh, Co-Captain; P. Simmons, H. McMullin. ROW 2; Miss Cosgrove, G. Mattson, A. Stone, S. Anderson, P. Curtis, E. McKenzie, S. Dunn, J. McMillan, B. Weaver, G. Kelley, J. Rowe, Miss Butera.

"L.E.T.'S. GO!" The huddle breaks as the team members move to the court and Miss Butera sits on the bench. "GO WESTON, BEAT . . .!" yell the bench-warmers and mothers. And the game is on.

This typical beginning of a girls' basketball game indicates the presence of mothers (who always occupy the highest steps on the bleachers), and coaches, Butera and Cosgrove, and occasionally coach Sullivan (better known as "Sullie"). The boys on the varsity came to see the games too, when they heard that the girls were scoring forty points more than their opponents. With all this support, the team, composed of members from all four classes, played ten games.

Varsity members Lynn Stone and Martie Wypler attained the highest point averages, with 17.9 and 15.6 points respectively. Seniors Holly Mackintosh and Leslie Townsend were co-captains of the Varsity; Judy Rowe was the only freshman representative on that squad. Cindy Bailey and Joan Slater captained the J.V. team. Both teams won seven games and lost three. Inspite of many disabled players, both teams maintained most of their "spir."

Our image.

Once upon a time, a young lady visited our plant. (In our view, the more the merrier.)

"What a sweet little car," she said. "It looks just like a beetle."

Now we're a pretty down-to-earth bunch.

At that moment we were figuring how much larger our brake-area would have to be if we stepped up our horsepower.

She stopped us cold.

After we'd made some discreet inquiries, we found out that a good many people shared her opinion.

But we also found out that people never said "beetle" nastily.

Always affectionately.

So we grew resigned to our nickname, and finally rather pleased with it.

It seems to say a lot about our attitude to car-making: determined, painstaking, unpretentious.

After all, some people try like mad to create a favorable impression.

We'd simply tried to make the Volkswagen a practical car.

And we'd gotten our very own image.
